Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a legal document or a historical record. The text is dense and covers most of the page, with some lines crossed out or heavily faded. The script is characteristic of the late 15th or early 16th century. There are several large initials and decorative flourishes throughout the text, including a prominent initial 'D' at the top left. The text appears to be a formal declaration or a set of regulations, mentioning various legal terms and possibly names of individuals or institutions.

Handwritten signature or name at the bottom of the page, written in a large, stylized cursive script. It appears to be a formal signature, possibly of a notary or a high-ranking official. The signature is written in dark ink and is quite legible despite the cursive style. It begins with a large 'D' and ends with a flourish. There is a small cross symbol to the left of the signature.
